JOB POSITION:
COMPETITIONS DESIGNER

LOCATION:
MILAN, ITALY
BOCCONI FOR INNOVATION
VIA BOCCONI N°6, 20136

FULL TIME
IN-PERSON

Position Overview

We are seeking a talented Competitions Designer to join our team at TerraViva, a Milan based startup dedicated to the organisation of international architecture competitions. The candidate will report directly to the founding team and will manage activities independently, coordinating them with the Chief Product Officer. We are looking for a creative professional with a solid architecture background and strong editorial skills willing to work on the design of our competitions.

Key Responsibilities

- Conduct independent research, under the supervision of the design team, on competition topics connected to architecture, design and urban regeneration
- Curate the story-telling of new competition briefs, from the general introduction about the context until the project's requirements, focusing on the textual content in English language
- Curate and edit the graphic content of new competition briefs, including the selection of top quality images and coherent project references
- Complete project themes drafted by other designers, refining them and bringing them to the level of quality and editorial standards required by each TerraViva competition
- Proactive participation in the brainstorming sessions with the rest of the team
- Work on the composition of the Download Packages containing all the material made available to the participants (Dwg drawings, maps, photographs and videos about the project area, specific design guidelines, etc)
- Propose any new features and innovations aimed at further raising the quality of our international competitions

Requirements

- Proficiency in English, both written and verbal (essential)
- Background in architecture or related fields, with a strong understanding of industry terminology and trends
- Excellent knowledge in Adobe InDesign, Adobe Photoshop, Autocad and Microsoft Office
- Meticulous attention to detail both textually and graphically (essential)
- Excellent organizational skills with a methodical approach to tasks
- Ability to work independently and self-manage tasks efficiently
- Strong interpersonal skills with the ability to communicate effectively
- Active interest in the topics connected to TerraViva
- Prior experience in the architecture editorial field at international magazines, platforms or blogs (preferred). The ability to write about architecture at a professional level will be considered an important plus!

Why Join Us

- Opportunity to work with a dynamic team dedicated to making a positive impact in the architecture sector
- Room for growth and advancement within the organisation
- Collaborative and inclusive work environment

Compensation & Presence

The workspace is located in Milan (Via Bocconi 6) and a three-month trial period will be planned with full-time presence required in the office. It will then be possible to stipulate some days of remote work depending on how the collaboration develops.

How to apply?

- Applications must be sent by email to jobs@terravivacompetitions.com
- Write in the subject of the email the position for which you are applying followed by your first and last name (ex: Competitions Designer_John Smith)
- Attach your updated CV and/or portfolio and a cover letter detailing why you are the ideal candidate for this position (max 20 MB in total)
- It is not necessary to write any text in the body of the email
- After the closing of the application, candidates will be notified by email whether they have been shortlisted or not for next selection step
